Like Two Thousand Sons
(I Will Not Doubt)

Words by:
Adrian (Ace) Beorchia, missionary extraordinaire

Music by:
Linda Hartman and
Jaime Hartman Gutierrez

The story of the two thousand valiant sons is unique to the teachings of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. Other Christian denominations who might like to use this song are invited to use the supplementary title and to substitute the name of a biblical prophet/general/leader in place of the phrase "two thousand sons" wherever it appears in the text. For example, the words "Joshua's men" will work well. No other changes in the music or text should be made.

Copyright © www.lindahartmanmusic.com
She held me in her arms; and I will never forget. God and she held me in her arms, she made a covenant with the
and I never will forget. I do not doubt; my mother

She promised God she'd keep me safe from harm.
and I will live forever in her debt.
Father, that she would keep me safe from harm.
I live forever in her debt.

She taught me well by her example.
I'll try to follow her example.
I'll try to choose the path that I should

She taught me well.
take, right.
and the promises I've made to God I am prepared to shine my light.
ne - ver shall for - sake.
I was taught by my mother to follow Christ the Lord and like two thousand sons of old I'm taking up my sword.
All those years of preparation have led me to this day.
and the lessons that I've learned here in my heart will always

a tempo

(a tempo)

When times get hard and choices vague I'm brought down to my (men or solo)

knees, suddenly a quiet voice is whispering to me;

"You've been taught by your mother to follow Christ the Lord, and like

(all women or solo)

(full choir)
two thousand sons of old you're taking up your sword."

Men with low voices can sing part one octave lower from here to the end as desired I'll keep my promise to the Savior and I will never quit. The spear of truth and righteousness before me will I set.

I will not doubt.

My mother knew.

I will not doubt.